Wherever you're going,
our regulatory and access experts have been there

»»» Bringing the expertise of ~100 former regulators and HTA assessors to you

Our 1,000+ strong Regulatory & Access consulting team includes ~100 former regulators and health technology assessment (HTA) assessors who have helped to develop guidance across the world. No matter which market you are targeting, our integrated experts can guide your treatment's journey through regulatory and access hurdles and into the hands of the patients who urgently need it.

»»» Together we can overcome the challenges you face

- ▶ Navigating multidimensional regulatory and reimbursement landscapes
- ▶ Addressing the distinct requirements of regulators, payers, physicians and patients
- ▶ Demonstrating value, as well as safety and efficacy, in the face of relentless pricing pressure
- ▶ Pioneering uncharted territory in rare/orphan diseases or with novel targeted therapies
- ▶ Aligning development innovations with regulatory and payer requirements
- ▶ Identifying specialists with the right technical and therapeutic expertise

With Heart

»»» Putting the patient at the center of everything we do to improve quality and compliance

Our focus never wavers from the patients who are waiting for new treatments. We take every possible action to identify innovative solutions to help optimize and accelerate development for earlier patient access.

Because we understand the distinct requirements of your stakeholders, we are better placed to help mitigate risks of costly delays and keep development on track.

»»» Parexel's Regulatory & Access solution is smarter through alignment

Our regulatory and access experts are plugged into the realities of clinical development. Their technical insights are geared towards more practical, actionable solutions that can be integrated into your Parexel development programs. It's the difference between ideas that are nice in theory, and those that are effective in practice.

>>> Guided by the best minds in the industry

We have a large and growing team of former regulators and payers, industry luminaries with broad experience, therapeutic experts with deep technical expertise, market access specialists with proven HTA success, and communication gurus who know how to position the evidence for great stakeholder engagement.
